We are looking into the possibility of putting up a Facebook page for the group. You will be able to post, chat, share pictures, share videos etc.

Facebook has an option for a secret group which means Only members see the group, who's in it, and what members post. You have to be added to this group individually.

If you choose to connect with others which would show your posts in the timeline or news feed you are welcome to do from your own Facebook page but because you have to be added to the secret group, none of those posts appear anywhere except in the group feed.

You would have to set up a Facebook account which is easy to do and you can set your privacy so basically you stay private.

Please respond to Charlie and let him know what your preference might be about this. I said I would help get things going and create a video about how to get set up and get put into the group.

See list of what Charlie and I talked about at the top of this page.
